CRIME VOCABULARY

1. Look the words from the vocabulary and match them with the corresponding picture.

A thief in Toronto announced his plan to rob a bank on Facebook. He then changed his name on the social media site to his idol – the bank robber Robert Metcalfe. Then, to make sure all his friends knew about the robbery, he posted photos of himself holding some hundred-dollar bills. Of course, the police didn't take long to catch him. When asked about his need to advertise the crime, he told the truth and said to reporters that he couldn't believe his bad luck. He said that he was surprised that the police had looked at his Facebook page!

In Germany, a man was found guilty of forgery when he walked into a shop and bought some cigarettes. He paid for the cigarettes with a €30 note, although this note doesn't exist. The shopkeeper didn't notice at first – he told journalists that the fake was very poor quality. 'I was distracted. I gave €20 in change to the man. Later I realised my mistake!' The police eventually arrested the criminal. He said that somebody had given him the illegal note as a joke, but police found hundreds of fake notes at his home and arrested him for fraud. The local police inspector said that she had never seen such a stupid crime.

In Edinburgh, Scotland, Ian Tarrant was walking down the street one day and suddenly found £75 on the pavement. He took it to his local police station. The police officer said that he would register it. A few days later, Mr Tarrant went back to the police station to ask about the money. He thought that if nobody had collected the money, he could keep it. But the police officer in charge said he had forgotten all about it. More importantly, the money had gone missing. In the end, the police had to return the money to Mr Tarrant. If he hadn't gone back to the police station, the police officer would have kept the £75!

2. Write about your opinion on these texts in 30 words.

3. Have you ever committed a crime? Have you ever suffered a crime? Have you ever seen a crime? Tell the story in 30 words.
